

ALMA Science

Knowledgebase > Project Planning > May I submit scientifically similar proposals with different targets and PI's?

May I submit scientifically similar proposals with different targets and PI's?

Sarah Wood - 2020-09-21 - Project Planning

Proposals from the same team pursuing similar science but with different targets and PIs are acceptable. As there is a single international review process, such proposals will very likely be assigned to the same review panel, which will be given instructions to carefully consider the relevant ranking of scientifically similar proposals. Therefore, such proposals will almost certainly be ranked against each other, and each should be able to stand on its own merits.